Image Audiovisuals to Handle Copper Mountain AV Services

DENVER (June 16, 2009) – Denver-based Image Audiovisuals, the region’s most recognized provider of full audiovisual services, extended its Summit County presence by signing a multi-year contract to serve as the preferred in-house AV provider for Copper Mountain Resort.

“This multi-year partnership with Copper Mountain Resort will significantly increase Image AV’s resources and capabilities in the Summit County area,” said Dave Mueller, president of Image AV. “It will build upon our six-year track record of success in Breckenridge by allowing us to expand our inventory and service offerings to our mountain clients.”

Bradford Squier will continue to oversee Image AV’s Summit County operations, and Brent Baumann has been hired to manage the company’s new Copper Mountain office. Baumann spent the last seven years in audiovisual operations, management and customer service for the Broadmoor hotel and resort in Colorado Springs.

At Copper Mountain, Image AV will provide state-of-the-art audiovisual equipment and customer service daily to guests utilizing the 68,000 square feet of flexible meeting space available to them.

“It is satisfying to see that our emphasis on Summit County in recent years has given us such a foothold there, and that the hospitality and meetings industry in the area recognizes the value that our company can add to their operations,” said Mueller.

Copper Mountain Manager of Meeting and Conferences Kyle Peterson said her organization was impressed with Image AV’s track record of customer service, especially in Summit County.

“Image AV has shown a willingness to commit its resources and services to Copper Mountain, and we are eager to begin benefiting from their years of experience in the industry,” Peterson said.

The partnership with Copper Mountain follows a similar one announced last fall, in which Image AV was chosen as the Colorado Convention Center’s preferred in-house AV provider, offering a wide range of audiovisual solutions for exhibits, general and breakout sessions, special events and more. For the clients of both Copper Mountain and the Colorado Convention Center, Image AV utilizes the newest in audio, video, multimedia production, web-streaming, interactive audience response systems and HDTV display technologies.
